BACKGROUND OF THE PROGRAMME: Reserve Bank of India has taken various initiatives over the years for improving customer service and grievance redress mechanism in banks. Detailed guidelines on customer service were issued to banks encompassing various aspects of operations that impact customers. The Banking Ombudsman Scheme was introduced in 1995 to serve as an alternate grievance redress mechanism for customer complaints against banks. The Reserve Bank - Integrated Ombudsman Scheme, 2021 (the Scheme) was launched to provide cost-free redress of customer complaints involving deficiency in services rendered by entities regulated by RBI, if not resolved to the satisfaction of the customers or not replied within a period of 30 days by the regulated entity. The Consumer Protection Act is a law in India that aims to protect the rights of consumers and ensure fair trade practices. COPRA provides for the establishment of consumer protection councils and other authorities for the settlement of consumer disputes, and specifies penalties for manufacturers or service providers who engage in unfair trade practices. It empowers consumers to protect their rights and interests by providing them with legal remedies against unfair trade practices and defective goods or services. Bank's performance in different banking services like withdrawal of cash, collection of cheques, quality and adequacy of infrastructural facilities available to customers, attitudes of bank employees towards customers, promptness, and general attitude have to be analysed and evaluated before strategy formulation.

CONTENT OVERVIEW:

- i) Consumer Protection Act: Background, Comparison with earlier Act, Highlights of the Act, Unfair trade practices, Penalties for Misleading Advertisement
