PROGRAMME BACKGROUND: Reserve Bank of India has raised concerns over slower deposit mobilisation compared to credit growth as it may create structural liquidity issues. Banks have been asked to maintain reasonable balance between credit and deposit growth. Though Bank Deposits are favoured traditionally for safety and liquidity, they are losing appeal among younger generation. Studies revealed that consumer education, complaint handling, customer follow-up and customer self-service had significant positive effects on the corporate efficiency of deposit money bank. Launching new schemes with advertisements attracts new depositors. However, what ultimately sustains the process of generation of new deposits and continues the acceleration of deposit mobilization is the quality of customer service as Perceived by customers. Bank's performance in different banking services like withdrawal of cash, collection of cheques, quality and adequacy of infrastructural facilities available to customers, attitudes of bank employees towards customers, promptness, and general attitude have to be analysed and evaluated before strategy formulation.
